Product manager and founder who builds, ships and learns from users. I built and launched Enkelt.ai, a live SaaS product, end to end with Claude Code, from user discovery to pricing and go-to-market, and I founded ReddMaten, a marketplace concept connecting farmers directly with consumers. As Senior Product Manager at ESL FACEIT Group I worked cross-functionally on product requirements, workflows and roadmap for the Gamers8 ecosystem, and for ten years I owned the brand, budget and team of RIDDLE Esports as it grew into one of Northern Europe's largest esports clubs. I back product decisions with data from performance marketing at an award-winning Nordic agency, and I use AI hands-on to speed up both products and team workflows.

Core Competencies

- Product Strategy & Roadmap: Contributed to product vision, strategy and roadmap at ESL FACEIT Group; owned positioning, pricing and roadmap for Enkelt.ai from first interview to launch.
- Marketplace & Supply-Side Thinking: Designed ReddMaten's farmer and consumer value propositions and operating model for a two-sided food-waste marketplace concept.
- AI in Product Development & Team Workflows: Built Enkelt.ai and internal agency tools with Claude Code and Codex; implemented AI agents in daily operations; use AI for research, specs and prototypes before building.
- User Discovery & Iterative Delivery: Interviewed five esports organizations and experts before building Enkelt.ai, then cut scope to a Discord bot and an AI chat because users would not spend time on admin.
- Data-Driven Outcomes: Success metrics, testing and ROAS-focused optimization for a client portfolio including Toyota Norway; daily use of Google Analytics.
- Cross-Functional Leadership & Stakeholders: Led up to 30 players and staff at RIDDLE; coordinated requirements and timelines across teams at ESL FACEIT Group; client and partner communication.

Product & Founder Experience

Enkelt.ai — Sarpsborg, Norway
Founder & Product Manager — 2026-Present

- Built and launched (June 2026) a B2B SaaS that brings esports team operations (rosters, scrims, finances, scouting, contracts, planning) into one product, replacing around ten tools; live with subscription pricing and support for 10 game titles.
- Ran discovery with five esports organizations and experts from ESL FACEIT Group before building. The key finding, that teams will not spend time on admin, made me simplify the product to a Discord bot and an AI chat that do the work for them.
- Built the entire product myself with Claude Code, using AI for research, specs and prototypes first; designed positioning, pricing and go-to-market solo.

- Worked cross-functionally to coordinate product requirements, operational workflows and delivery timelines; was managing events on-site in Riyadh within four weeks of joining, and stayed for the full duration of Gamers8.
- Used analysis and stakeholder feedback to inform product improvements and event execution.
